

ALBERTO BIANCARDI

A Commissioner of the Italian Electricity and Gas Regulatory Authority since February 2011.

Born in Milan on 19 September 1961. Married with a daughter.

Holds a degree in Economic and Social Studies taken at the Milan “L. Bocconi” University.

With a background as economist, he served with the following institutions: AGCM (the Italian Antitrust Authority, the Italian Electricity and Gas Regulatory Authority, the Single Buyer, the Ministry for Industry and the Italian Prime Minister’s Office. In the latter institution, he coordinated the NARS (the counselling unit operating with the Interministerial Committee for Economic Planning, or ‘CIPE’, on the regulatory themes related to network-infrastructure services). He also served with Eni and Enel (as the President’s assistant).

From March 2007 to the current office, he served as: Director General of the Equalisation Fund for the Electricity Sector (CCSE); untenured Professor at the Genoa University, and Energy and Infrastructure Area Manager with AREL.

He is the author of numerous publications on public services and economic regulation.